TOP VIRTUAL IT/TECH CONFERENCES FOR FALL 2020

2020 has been a year of the unexpected, requiring us all to make big changes, adjustments, and compromises in order to keep ourselves and each other safe. Service providers are seeking new ways to reach clients in this time of social distancing, and for many that means holding their highly anticipated events in the virtual space. Who better to pioneer this move than tech leaders?

Conferences and live events are essential avenues for businesses looking to sell their products, for professionals looking to learn about new trends, and for everyone in the industry to do valuable networking. At the end of the day, attendees leave these events feeling inspired and ready to do some serious work. While nothing can replace the value of face-to-face connections, a virtual conference is accessible to a greater number of people around the globe.

In an industry that already requires leaders to be at the forefront of innovation, it's only natural that those leaders would be quick to respond to global change. Many events have been postponed or canceled, but just as many are being offered virtually.

Reach out if you would like to add a virtual tech/IT conference to the directory. To be considered, please email the conference name, dates of the event, location, and a link to the event's website to blogs@bmc.com.

For more topic-specific conference, check out our other conference round-ups on the right-hand menu, including Top DevOps Conferences, Programming & Software Dev Conferences, and CyberSecurity Conferences.
